

5th June 2009

Lisa: What a stupid idea! What made you want to join the balsa! You could've been killed!

Simone: I was killed, but was resurrected. I just shut my eyes and prayed. It didn't hurt a bit. Just look at me now!

Mysti: Are you sure it didn't hurt? I think I might give it a go.

Lisa: You're crazy!

Mysti: Am not. Why not a go.

Simone: She is not crazy. Joining the balsa gives me a feeling of calmness and protection.

Lisa: That's just stupid! You've always been calmer than Mysti and I!

Simone: calmer than.

Mysti: when's the next balsa? I think I need to feel calmer. I've felt so tense since my cat ran away. I miss her so much.

Lisa: If you join the katea I'll run away from you two.

Simone: You should try it. Nearly everyone in a village has joined. Something tells me you'd enjoy it.

Mysti: You should try! I'm going to! You should definitely join up...

Lisa: OK, OK, OK... perhaps it is for the best. Maybe it will make me feel true, truly fantastic, an inspiration and faith. You two know me from inside out, ~~as if you were my parents~~.

Mysti: Yeah, OK, ^{we} you do know you more than anyone else. You need to learn that life has more to it than just seeing your friends and having a good time. You should join and become more religious, your family stands out as being less religious than everyone in this village.

Simone: Yeah, everyone's going to think you're joking! Prove them wrong, Lisa! You can do it!

Lisa: I don't want people to laugh and think I'm joking! Now you've said something discouraging me, I never should've listened to you!

Simone: Follow your beliefs, Lisa. See the world in a different way. It would be good for you.