

Is God a cruel designer?

God cannot be a cruel designer, he created an amazing and powerful universe that people can live on. He is ever designing our universe to make it bigger and better for us and we can see this is true because we have scientific proof of our universe getting larger. Also the way he put the earth at the right angle so it can spin to bring us change, such as 'day and night', and 'summer and winter'. However there are ideas that contradict this, god is a cruel designer. He created plate tectonics that rub past each other to cause earthquakes. this shows that he did not design a perfect world. God also created meteorites and comets that can and have hit our earth. They can cause great devastation so surely this shows god has created a cruel earth.

I believe that god is not a cruel designer though. I know that he has designed a world with disaster but I think this shows that god is not perfect and he is trying to show that things don't need to be perfect.