

'The visitor who led the meditation session asked Pupil F 'Do you think that the story about the monkey king in the Jataka Tales really happened or do you think that it is just teaching a lesson to people about putting others first?'

Pupil F answered, 'Sometimes stories are not important because they happened but because they teach us something which is true.'